

E. PERSHING ST. FEE DEADLINE IS SET BY CITY

Engineer Warns Assessments Must Be Paid Up by April 21

ACTION FORCED BY GOVERNMENT

WPA Authorities Insist That Work Be Started By May 1

With the city's share of expense in fund, City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff and other city officials warned East Pershing st., property owners today that unless their assessment money is in the hands of the city auditor by April 21, the job of paving Pershing st., between South Lincoln and Ohio avenues, will be postponed indefinitely.

Must Start By May 1

The city officials were forced to make this plea to the property owners when district WPA authorities notified the engineer that the deadline for starting the project has been set for May 1.

The board of education has turned in its assessment fee, totaling more than $800. The board's property is the Reilly stadium ground.

Other property owners who were instrumental in arousing the city's interest in sponsoring the paving job, have been asked to send or bring their funds to the office of City Auditor Karl Webster.

The project has been approved and released by the federal government.

Barkhoff pointed out that if all assessment fees were in the hands of the auditor today, he could start work on the job tomorrow.

No Bonds Issued

Instead of issuing bonds in anticipation of the collection of the fees, the city several months ago decided upon the "cash basis" plan.

The 22 property owners residing along that section of East Pershing st., have been notified by letter of the assessment costs.

The WPA-approved plans provide for the laying of an asphalt pavement on a macadam base. Total cost of the job is estimated at $5,065.

Court Bailiff, 68, Eats Cake and Ice Cream on Birthday

LISBON, April 15.—Many happy returns of the day were in order for James Stevenson, court bailiff, Wednesday.

The bailiff observed his 68th birthday at this time. Somehow the word got out and towards the close of the day a group of well-wishers and admirers produced ice cream and cake for the occasion.

"Jim" declined to make a speech but enjoyed the refreshments. His old friend and boyhood chum, Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones, was one of the guests.

NEW McCARRAN BILL PROPOSES 11-MAN COURT

Senate Is Given Substitute For Roosevelt Reform Plan

OPPOSES "FORCE" IN RETIREMENTS

Meanwhile, President continues Campaign For His Own Bill

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 15.—Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) introduced in the senate today a substitute for the Roosevelt court bill. It would provide for an unconditional increase of two members in the size of the supreme court.

The Nevada senator has long been regarded as one of the "key" members of the senate judiciary committee because he has remained non-committal on the President's proposal to enlarge the court by six members if those now over 70 years do not retire.

In offering his substitute, in the form of an amendment to the Roosevelt bill, McCarran refused to say whether he would support the measure if his amendment were rejected.

He did tell reporters, however, that he did not favor any "forced retirement" from the court.

The Nevada's proposal was comparatively close to what has long been regarded as the most likely compromise of the President's bill—an increase of two instead of six.

But the amendment would go further and eliminate the age and retirement provisions under which the increase in the court would be conditional upon failure of justices over 70 to retire.

McCarran said he "hoped" the administration would be sympathetic to his proposal, but administration spokesmen made it clear that the President was campaigning for his own bill with as much determination as before the Wagner bill act decisions.

Statements from three cabinet officers emphasized that the court's 5 to 4 verdict upholding the labor law had not interrupted the efforts to "inject new blood" into the supreme court.

Columbiana School Exemption Granted

COLUMBIANA, April 15.—The Columbiana village school district has been certified by the state department of education as an exempted village school district, effective Sept. 1, Leo E. Holloway, clerk of the board of education, has been informed by E. L. Bowsher, state director of education.

The state accepted the population of the school district as 3,021, the census having been taken in March. This action will free the local district from county supervision and will result in a considerable saving in funds to the taxpayers.

CANADA LABOR DISPUTES GROW

C. I. O. Demands Premier Hepburn Quit Strike Negotiations

(By Associated Press) OSHAWA, Ont., April 15.—Oshawa's embattled C. I. O. union of General Motors workers demanded today that Ontario's premier withdraw from strike negotiations, accusing him of a "dictatorship" that would rob workers of their right to strike.

By formal resolution, the local of the United Automobile Workers of America, an affiliate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, sought to shove Premier Mitchell Hepburn out of the foreground to make way for dominion intervention.

The union's cry of "dictatorship" was reminiscent of Hepburn's own charge that Lewis, through the Oshawa and other C. I. O. units, was trying to establish himself as a "political and economic dictator" in Canada and the United States.

Hold Mass Meeting

The resolution was adopted at a mass meeting of 2,000 men and women last night after Hepburn's formal resignation of the C. I. O. members of his cabinet, Labor Minister David Croll and Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck.

Both Croll and Roebuck were considered extremely liberal members of the Ontario government. They were labor lawyers before joining with Hepburn.

After the resignations the premier took over the labor portfolio himself and one of his first acts was to ask the dominion government not to intervene.

The outcome of the union's request for intervention from Ottawa to end the week-old tieup affecting 3,700 workers was doubtful, in view of that fact.

Labor Minister Norman Rogers and Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated there would be no federal intervention, however, in the absence of requests from Hepburn or General Motors of Canada.

Labor Disputes Spread

The dominion government and several provinces were confronted with a rising tide of labor disputes. Widely separated strikes held more

State Sends Out Last Of Relief Funds, Turns Problem Over to Cities

SENATE WANTS TAXES PAID UP

Urges Drive On Delinquency, Rather Than New Imposts

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, April 15.—Faced with a renewed house demand for a state income tax law, the Ohio senate pushed today into a drive for readjusting tax burdens and collecting delinquent taxes in preference to making new imposts.

With the relief problem at least temporarily shoved into the hands of the house, the senate was scheduled to act on a far-reaching resolution for creation of a 15-member tax and revenue commission to study the entire taxation question.

Study Is Proposed

Offered by Sen. W. F. Orver (D-Holmes), the resolution would charge the commission with studying tax systems of this and other states, and recommending means of eliminating "confusion and inequalities in taxation" in Ohio and providing "sufficient revenue" for the state and subdivisions.

The senate had before it also for probable early action a proposal to create a joint legislative commission for study of tax delinquencies.

Sponsored by Majority Leader Keith Lawrence of Cleveland and Republican Floor Leader Verne E. Metcalf of Marietta, the resolution asserted collection of delinquent taxes would provide sufficient funds to pay relief costs and obviate new levies.

The taxation committee also is considering a bill by Sen. Lawrence A. Kane (R-Hamilton) to set up a collecting system by empowering county commissioners to sell warrants, bearing 8 per cent interest, against delinquencies.

"No Incentive to Pay"

Carlton A. Dargusch, former vice chairman of the state tax commission, told the committee a similar measure had brought about 70 per cent delinquency collections in Michigan. He estimated delinquencies in Ohio totaled $200,000,000 and asserted "there is no real incentive in Ohio for anybody to pay taxes."

Senator Kane said delinquencies in Cuyahoga county were about $83,000,000 and in Hamilton county only $4,500,000, adding "Cuyahoga county has been running this legislative tool long."

Considerable pressure for speedy action in the senate on these proposals was seen in the crystallization of sentiment for adjourning the legislature early in May. The house Democratic majority in caucus yesterday agreed on April 29 as the final working day and sine die adjournment about May 10. Senate

Face Grand Jury In Theft Charges

WELLSVILLE, April 15.—Pleading guilty to charges of looting and stripping brass fittings from cars in the railroad yards here, four men were bound over to the grand jury yesterday by Mayor Howard L. Kelley.

The quartet, James Long, William Eaton, Walter McCartney and Gilbert Wright were ordered held under $2,000 bonds each. They were taken to Lisbon.

Spring Clean-Up Planned by Mayor

Mayor George Harroff today announced he is planning a spring clean-up week, to be observed sometime early next month.

Details of the city-wide clean-up will be announced later. At that time, however, it is planned to have citizens place their rubbish in receptacles at the street curb where city service department trucks will haul it away.

County's Relief Fund Will Last For 45 Days More

LISBON, April 15.—County Auditor John H. Irwin assured county commissioners today the county can get along for 45 days without "feeling a pinch" in sponsoring relief administration.

Irwin explained the county has $32,000 in public utilities excise bonds which it may sell to obtain money for relief needs.

The state relief commission notified Columbiana county authorities today it had prepared a voucher for $5,748.44 for the county out of the last remaining poor relief funds.

BOOM? NOT YET, AYRES ASSERTS

Financier Says Depression Is Not Fully Conquered

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, April 15.—There isn't any business boom, Col. Leonard P. Ayres said today.

Instead "we have not as yet definitely emerged from the depression," the Cleveland statistician and economist observed, charting general business as "15 per cent or more below normal."

"A good deal of bad economics is being talked in these days about emergency measures to prevent a business boom, extended controls to restrain bank credit expansion, and increased federal powers to restrain commodity advances," he said.

Not Even Acquired

The discussions constitute a kind of locking of the stable door before the family horse has even been acquired.

"The present discussions are a baneful because they divert our attention and our efforts away from the three economic problems which really are of pressing urgency. These are the reduction of unemployment, the balancing of the federal budget, and the restoration of harmony in labor relations."

"The chief reason why about 15 per cent or more of our workers are

BREAK IN WARE STRIKE HINTED

Reports Current Many of Men Are Eager To Resume Work

A "break" in the pottery strike was expected to follow a meeting of striking warehousemen in East Liverpool this afternoon. Reports were current that many of the warehousemen, who called a "holiday strike" a week ago, were eager to return to work.

Their walkout, however, has left practically all the potteries in the district in idleness.

Another development today was the return of 12 warehousemen to their jobs at the Royal China Co. in Sebring. Three other workers failed to return.

President James M. Duffy of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters announced today the revocation of charters of Potters locals No. 25 and 86 in East Liverpool as the result of the walkout which he termed an "outlaw strike."

At the same time he announced the suspension by the executive board of the striking pottery warehousemen in Salem, Sebring and Minerva.

Emmanuel Wood, a CIO official at East Liverpool, in a statement today said the CIO is a unit to organize the unorganized. "We have no intentions of interfering with the pottery labor difficulties."

P.-T. A. Groups Rally At N. Georgetown

North Georgetown and Bridgewater Parent-Teacher associations met last night in the North Georgetown school for the last session this season. S. H. Pollock, superintendent of Sebring schools, was a speaker.

Musical entertainment included numbers by a rhythm band from North Georgetown, piano solos by Norris Marshall and guitar and vocal numbers by Duane Lutz of Winona.

The program was arranged by Mrs. L. A. Stoller, Mrs. James Anderson and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Charles Stoffer and Mrs. Earl Stoffer.

FUTURE STEPS IN DOUBT TODAY

Senate Floor Leader Assests Next Move Up To House

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, April 15.—The state relief commission rushed the senate's $43 "distressed" counties today to prevent privation in the wake of collapse of the state's poor relief program.

Cities and townships assumed responsibility for care of Ohio's approximately 340,000 indigent at midnight when a temporary program of three and a half months expired after a bitter wrangle in the legislature blocked enactment of a "stopgap" replacement.

The relief commission and its elaborate organization, which spent more than $25,000,000 in feeding, sheltering and clothing the needy last year, no longer existed legally.

Denounces "Wrecking Crew"

Gov. Martin L. Davey, after denouncing what he termed "the senate's wrecking crew" for the predicament, said he did not believe the national guard would have to haul out its field kitchens to feed persons on relief, as he once proposed, for 10 days at least.

To assure as much protection as possible, he had the relief commission allocate its unexpended $500,000 in poor relief funds, before it went out of existence at midnight.

The commission had an additional fund of approximately $368,000, the remainder of $1,000,000 the legislature appropriated for flood relief, but it was not allocated and went back into the state treasury, Chairman Roy L. Wildermuth said.

The question of when the legislature would enact a new relief program as lawfully one of conjecture.

Democratic Floor Leader Keith Lawrence of the senate said the next move was up to the house, and said that if the house did not act the senate would disregard relief until it disposed of the $89,000,000 biennial appropriation bill, probably a week hence.

After the senate approved and carrying $15,000,000 to come out then shelved a two-year relief bill of the general revenue fund it quickly passed a new "stop-gap" bill to continue the relief commission until May 5 while a compromise measure of more permanent nature could be sought.

House May Kill It

The house, in an angry mood, refused to consider the new "stop-gap" immediately, and informed observers said it probably would kill the measure. Some members of the house, which passed a relief bill March 18 and saw the senate practically ignore its provisions, asserted their brothers in the other chamber were trying to make them jump through a hoop.

The new stop-gap bill, passed 29 to 2 by the senate, was designed to provide the relief commission's unexpended balances for use until

Urge Strip Cropping As Aid to Farming

LISBON, April 15.—One of several farming innovations encouraged in Columbiana county by the CCC and its staff of experts is strip cropping.

Although European countries have employed this method of cultivation for many years, it has not enjoyed much popularity in the United States until the government sponsored it as an aid in its soil erosion campaign. According to Glenn Poe, CCC agronomist, it is proving of definite value to Columbiana county farmers.

Poe says strip cropping permits the farmer to cultivate sloping land and still maintain fertility by preventing erosion. The alternating strips of fallow ground cause water to run more slowly down hill, permitting the soil to absorb more moisture.

Another advantage, Poe states, lies in the fact that the farmer can plow on comparatively level ground. Farmers have found it increases their crop yield, rather than decreases it, as was formerly believed.

NINE YOUNG MEN

The calendar confirms a feeling that it's almost time for nine young men to step into the spotlight.

This is the last week of that peculiar adjunct of the national game, spring training. The backs of the ballplayers' necks are deeply tanned by this time. April 19, the Washington opening day ceremonies will mark the opening of another season, and the next day all the teams go into action.

Last Sunday, automobiles appeared on the road with cane fishing poles tied to their tops. Golfers have been out and around for several weeks. Tennis enthusiasts have been eyeing the courts. Horseshoe players have been tempted to throw a few games.

Marbles are well along the way, roller skating and kite flying are commonplace by now, and in many ways the enforced idleness which winter imposes in these parts is being broken.

It may be wrong, but the idea persists that a lot of problems are going to disappear when millions of Americans start thinking again about their own condition, instead of the country's.

THE FUN OF POLITICS

All joking aside, it has to be admitted Gov. Martin L. Davey really does put a lot of spirit into politics. Ohio has learned to depend on him for diversion. It even suspects sometimes the governor enjoys stirring up things.

Take the matter of the relief strikers who camped last week in the state office building. Gov. Davey chose to use patience. Then, when patience ran out, he used force.

No one objected, except the campers, and the matter could have rested there very comfortably. But that wouldn't be the Davey way.

Just to live up to the situation, he shouted that the relief strikers were "Communist, anti-American and anti-God."

The fun of politics in this case was the retort to these strong words, as delivered by the group's secretary. "The vast majority of our members (Workers Alliance) voted for Gov. Davey at the last election," this gentleman recalled.

Now what could Gov. Davey have been thinking of when he encouraged such persons to vote for him last November, or is that too long ago to be remembered?

IT'S A BIT DIFFICULT

One of those Englishmen visiting the United States to look into things threw up his hands the other day and gasped: "Too many states. Too many banks. Too many strikes. Everything's so beastly complicated. We're puzzled because we just can't understand how it all possibly can work."

It is a bit difficult at that. For a good many years, it worked more by accident than by design, in the way that a greenhorn might fly an airplane by happening to do the right thing at the right instant, instead of the wrong thing at the wrong instant.

Then trouble came, and all at once everybody began to think about the complexity of his harried existence. Problems jumped out of the ground, sneaked in at the windows and surged out of the woodwork. The whole country started to worry at once, and the quacks moved in like robins going after worms at the end of a thunderstorm.

Everybody had a different idea for fixing up everything so it never would make any more trouble. They pried the clock apart in no time and emptied out the wheels and springs, but when it was time to put them back they couldn't agree.

The upshot of it all was that the fixers and the fixees started milling around, groaning they couldn't understand how it possibly could be made to work again; everything was so beastly complicated. So our puzzled English friend, who came just for a visit, really is talking like a native already.

The secret . . . shh! . . . is that Americans honestly believe that they can jam everything back together and make it run. If the incredulous gentlemen from England thinks that's silly, let him stick around and he'll see how it's done.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, April 16.

Judging by the rather perplexing and dubious position of certain planets governing on this day, there may be a tax on the prudence and sound judgment relating to finances as well as to affiliations with important business interests. There are omens of loss of money or property, unfortunate litigation and loss through squandering, extravagance and indulgences. However, there is prospect of a fortunate change or successful journey.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which much depends on individual sound judgment, in business affairs, finances and property manipulation. There are hazardous financial situations as well as hints of regrettable extravagances, indulgences, litigation and loans. A favorable journey or sudden change may prove beneficial. Retraint, conservatism and sagacity may turn the tide to profitable and pleasant issues.

A child born on this day may be talented, efficient and ambitious, probably in untold fields, and it may win the recognition of those in power. But it may lean to extravagant, indulgent and reckless adventures.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, April 15.—Joe Louis has become the sartorial hot diggedy along 7th and Lenox aves. The combined razzle dazzle of Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway and Bill Robinson almost suggest mourning in contrast to the brown skinned fighter's dressy dices.

In his formative fighting days, Louis clung to blue serges, with only an occasional peep of color, such as a bright-hued tie. But all of a sudden he jumped the gun and with a resounding blooey, blooey cracked the spectrum. He is Harlem's style setter.

And has the most elaborate wardrobe that color-conscious Harlem has ever seen. He sports pearl white Hombergs in Jimmy Walker's jauntiest dip and wears high button shoes with dove gray tops, to say nothing of giraffe skin gloves at $15 a smack, which Gary Cooper popularized.

His pantaloons are five pleated, swooping from his hips to a thin and graceful cuff, his vests sawed off to here and his shoulders padded out to there. One of his shirts is blood red, which he wears with a grass green tie, which gives you the general idea.

Incidentally, Louis for some reason or other has lost considerable face with the New York sports writers. Since his ascendancy he was showered with praise until his fight with Bob Pastor and then the panegyrics were turned off suddenly—like water by a tap. The hosannahs turned to hoots almost as venomous as the jeers for Max Baer when he toppled from his pedestal.

But Louis, no matter his pugilistic standing, remains the Bon Bon Buddy in the Black Belt. He is considered the social leader along Strivers Row and Sugar Hill and right now, of course, paces the fashion fare. Already there is a neon-signed Joe Louis Toggery, exploiting styles he is supposed to sponsor. Up-town he is known as "Chappie." That's his manager Joe Blackburn's name for him. When the time comes for Louis to make his kill Blackburn is supposed to say, "Let's go to town, Chappie," and in that round the fighter brings his man to the resin. The only Harlem holdout in enthusiasm for Louis is the black ex-champion, Jack Johnson. He has said from the start that any good right-handed puncher could make a monkey out of the boy from Detroit.

The restaurant El Morocco for social stayouts, publishes a miniature tabloid weekly called "No News." It has a regular editor and staff photographer and a copy is on each table nightly. The sheet lists the siccoco flow of celebrities, what they wear and their eccentricities, also prints one or two poses. The itch to be spread upon its pages, of course, brings customers.

Lois Long, The New Yorker's Lipstick, proved herself the prince or rather princess of good fellowship in a recent water wagon wager. At one of the bars one late evening somebody sighed he was tired of it all and was going to chuck intoxicants for at least a month. Several others were so minded and so ten of them deposited a $100 check each as a solemn pledge of abstinence. Those who failed forfeited their deposits. All dropped out of the race before the final day save Miss Long, and when they gathered to see her collect, she waited until five minutes before the final hour, then downed a cocktail and handed each pledger his check. Not many men would have been so generous.

They buried Arakel, the Armenian restaurateur, the other day. For many years Arakel's was a stop in the rounds of trenchermen at its unpretentious stand on lower Lexington ave. In the cashier's cage Arakel with his bushy brows, piercing eyes and hawk-like nose suggested an eagle. The cafe had the true continental atmosphere. Never crowded, leisurely service, and diners who remained all evening like those at Foyot's and Laperouse. Arakel's soups were not mere potages, but inspirations. Such places always die with their owners.

Thingumbobs: Marie Tempest received letters from Oscar Wilde almost every day he was in jail, but disliked him so she tore them up as received. . . . They would be worth a fortune today. . . . Jimmy Johnston, the fiery prize fight promoter, is one of the town's most confirmed tea addicts. . . . Clare Boothe Luce has dedicated the novelized version of her hit play, "The Women," to her schoolgirl friend, Buff Cobb.

I like the Rube Goldberg story that has been going the rounds for some time now. On the off chance you haven't heard it, here it is: A ventriloquist was desperate because his act was flopping. He heard spiritualism was a good business and opened a seance parlor. A widow came in to talk to her departed husband. The ventriloquist did his stuff and she was delighted. She paid a handsome fee and asked if he might come back the following week to talk again. The ventriloquist, new to his role, said: "Madam, I'll not only let you speak to him but I'll drink a glass of water."

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

NEURITIS
THERE ARE many forms of neuritis. In general, it can be said that the symptoms are due to the inflammation of a nerve.

The degree of pain in neuritis depends upon the extent of the inflammation and the particular nerve involved. The victim of neuritis may describe the discomfort as a sensation of burning and tingling. At times the pain may be so severe as to require the administration of an opiate. As a rule, the overlying skin is sensitive and may be involved in the inflammatory change.

One or many nerves may be involved. The most common ones are the sciatic nerve and the facial nerve leads to a condition spoken of as facial neuralgia. The more severe form of this affliction is often referred to as "the double-nerve."

When the sciatic nerve is involved, the condition is called sciatica. This is an extremely painful condition. The pain runs along the thigh or leg. It may be so severe as to confine the victim to bed.

What Causes It?
I am often asked the cause of neuritis. This is a difficult question to answer because there are many things that lead to this distressing ailment. The original injury or inflammation may be the result of a fall or blow. The neuritis may follow the absorption of certain toxins or poisons.

These poisons often come from some center or focus of infection in the body, such as diseased tonsils, adenoids, nasal sinuses or teeth. The poisoning may be traced to chronic alcoholism or to lead or mercury absorption. Lead poisoning is a rather common cause for neuritis frequently encountered in painters and other workers having contact with lead.

There is a form of neuritis which is not seen so frequently as it was in former years. I refer to the symptoms caused by a deficiency of vitamin B in the diet. The disease resulting is commonly known as "beri-beri" and in it is severe inflammation of certain nerves of the body.

Temporary relief of neuritis is often obtained by the application of heat. The use of a hot water bag, an electric pad or special lamp diminishes the pain and often brings great comfort. It is well to bear in mind, however, that this relief is temporary and that permanent relief is to be expected only upon the removal of the underlying cause of the disorder.

In 14-day "side-by-side" tests with other leading refrigerators, Margaret Sawyer, noted consultant home economist of New York City, decisively substantiated the 4-point superiority of the new 1937 Grunow Refrigerator. By its clear cut victory, Grunow further establishes itself as the world's finest protector of foods and the family pocketbook. The 1937 Grunow led all others in faster freezing, in uniform shelf temperature, in food odor prevention and in ice cube capacity... performance features every woman wants and needs in a refrigerator... Here's What Margaret Sawyer Discovered on Her 14-Day Test

1. FAST FREEZING
"In my fast-freezing test, using equal amounts of water in each refrigerator, Grunow was first to freeze all cubes solid. Grunow freezing time—3 hours and 3 minutes."

2. UNIFORM SHELF TEMPERATURE
"Of all the refrigerators tested, the Grunow was found to have superior circulation of air. On all shelves, Grunow temperatures were so uniform, that perfect food preservation was assured."

3. FOOD ODOR PREVENTION
"For my 'odor test' I used foods with pungent odors. With sliced bananas, uncovered, in an all night test... strong banana smell in all unsaturated boxes, none in Grunow."

4. 16 POUNDS DOUBLE ICE CAPACITY
"In my opinion, one of the greatest advantages of the 1937 Grunow is its double ice capacity—16 pounds, or 160 cubes, even in the lowest-priced model."

RELIEF STEPS IN DOUBT TODAY

State Turns Over Problem to Local Communities

May 5. It carried an emergency clause to put it into effect as soon as the old stop-gap expired.

The senate, after a stormy debate over the $15,000,000 appropriation in the two-year bill refused to add an emergency clause, which made the measure practically worthless. The clause received 20 votes, whereas it needed 24. Fourteen senators voted against it.

Nevertheless, the bill itself was passed, 19 to 13, and sent to the house, which promptly refused to accept amendments in it. The senate stood firm on the amendments and the bill was killed.

Administration friends of Governor Davey defeated the emergency clause after failing in an attempt to strike out the $15,000,000 appropriation, for which they contended there was no money in the general revenue fund.

Fear New Taxes Needed

Proponents of the appropriation, who argued much money for relief could be trimmed out of the biennial appropriation bill, expressed fear that new taxes would be necessary to finance relief if funds for the indigent were not taken out of the general revenue fund.

An amendment to strike out the $15,000,000 was defeated by a vote of 18 to 15.

Democratic Leader Lawrence, fighting the proposal to take relief money out of the general revenue fund, urged the senate not to "play politics with human misery."

Sen. Horace W. Baggett (D-Montgomery) declared that "I hope you can see that the adoption of this amendment means new taxes."

Governor Davey, who has asserted there are no funds in the state treasury for relief and that new taxes are necessary, said he would have been compelled to veto "this stupid two-year bill" if it had been enacted.

He said the 18 Senators who voted against the amendment constituted "the lobby-controlled wrecking crew" and added "that includes the lieutenant governor" (George F. Todd).

George H. Charles, chairman of the interorganization conference, a group of business organizations, asserted today that "the claimed 'depleted state treasury' is a reckless spender's effort to get more funds from the taxpayers."

"There is plenty of money in the treasury to take care of the state's share of relief," he added.

C. I. O. Demands Premier Hepburn Quit Strike Negotiations

than 4,400 workers idle, including those in Oshawa, while 5,000 Montreal garment workers were under call to quit work today.

Hepburn, meanwhile, declared he had "no immediate intention" of calling a general election to seek a mandate from Ontario's voters on his attitude toward the Lewis labor movement. He said, however, that circumstances might arise at any time to make such a course necessary.

Hugh Thompson, the C. I. O. organizer here, has indicated a new sit-down strike would be called in Detroit if efforts were made to divert Oshawa's automobile orders to other plants, but a declaration of policy on the Oshawa mayor's "ultimatum" was not immediately forthcoming from Detroit union officials.

The union vice president, Ed C. Hall, said the mayor's demand "should be taken up also with General Motors."

District Meeting Arranged by Club

Roy Guess, Jr., president of the Equitable club of the Equitable Life Insurance company, which met last night in the Ohio Edison building, was in charge of the business session, when plans for a district meeting in Wellville next Thursday were discussed.

The district meeting, when company officials from Washington as well as those from the Steubenville district are expected to attend, will precede the annual May campaign when employees compete for a vacation trip awarded by the company. The place for this year's trip and rules of the contest will be announced at the banquet.

A short musical program was enjoyed last night, followed by games, dancing and a lunch. Piano selections were offered by Mrs. R. C. Guess, Sr., Misses Frances Mae Vincent and Marjorie Guess. Miss Vincent played cornet numbers and Roy Guess, violin solos.

The next meeting of the club will be held May 12, the place to be announced.

Kills Self

XENIA, April 15.—Coroner H. C. Schick termed suicide today the death of Cash Coy, 65, who killed himself with a shotgun borrowed from Sugar Creek township trustees last fall to hunt rabbits. He said A. E. Kidlow, Greene county infirmary superintendent, was waiting to return Coy to the institution when the shot was fired.

Club Closed

PORTSMOUTH, April 15.—A suit on file in common pleas court today asked foreclosure of mortgages and appointment of a receiver for the Portsmouth Country club. George E. Krickler, trustee, asked that receivership, the Security Central National bank a $29,350 judgment on notes and N. Glenn Edward judgments of $33,283 and $8,000.

Theater Attractions

Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur, stars of "History Is Made at Night," the Friday and Saturday feature at the State theater.

A new team of screen lovers makes its appearance with "History Is Made at Night," showing at the State theater Friday and Saturday. Jean Arthur (Mr. Deeds Goes to Town and The Plainsman) and Charles Boyer, French screen favorite who achieved fame in American pictures after his work in "Pride and Prejudice," "Break of Hearts," "Shanghai," and "The Garden of Allah," are the new romantic couple.

Miss Arthur gives her usual grand performance, sincere, straightforward and clear-cut, as the wife of an American shipowner, played by Colin Clive, who is splendid as the insanely jealous, unloved husband. Charles Boyer plays the role of a man-about-town and favorite head waiter of Continental restaurants.

Upsets Plot

By chance, Boyer overhears Clive making arrangements with his chauffeur to compromise with Miss Arthur to force her to drop her impending divorce action. Boyer steps in, upsets the plot and takes Miss Arthur with him to the Paris cafe of his friend, Cesare, portrayed by Leo Carrillo.

The next day the chauffeur is discovered murdered and Boyer is suspected. Clive and Miss Arthur return to America where she plans to go ahead with divorce proceedings. Arriving in New York she secures a position as mannequin and finds that Boyer and Carrillo are in the states.

It becomes necessary for her to return to Paris to testify in the trial of a man who has been arrested for the murder of the chauffeur, which Boyer was supposed to have committed. In the succession of events Miss Boyer and Miss Arthur find out the identity of the murderer when her husband suicides.

Leo Carrillo as Cesare, the cafe owner and friend of Boyer, makes the most of his comedy role.

Rembrandt Concludes
"Rembrandt" with Charles Laughton in the title role and "Step Lively, Jeeves" featuring Arthur

EELLS MORTUARY 109 YEARS OLD

Lisbon Establishment Is One of Oldest
In State

LISBON, April 15.—The undertaking establishment Erastus E.
Eells started here 109 years ago is still in existence today—probably the oldest in the state, and possibly the nation.
Today G. V. Eells, great grandson of the founder, carries on the business in the present funeral home on West Lincoln way.
The training Erastus E. Eells received when an apprentice in a cabinet shop run by Joseph Ledlie in 1824, proved invaluable to him since the mortuary of that day generally made its own coffins. He completed his training in 1828 and started in business for himself as an undertaker.
In the 60 years he was in business, Mr. Eells buried over 5,000 persons. His services were in demand not only in Lisbon but in such distant points as Cleveland, New Castle, Canton and Cadiz. He worked almost until the day of his death, April 18, 1892.
Leonard H. Eells succeeded his father as head of the business upon the latter's death. Ill health forced his retirement in 1901. His son, Erastus Eells II, followed him, learning the business at an early age. At the age of 14 he conducted his first funeral alone, handling matters so satisfactorily the believed survivors forgot their first misgivings and were profuse in their praise.
The present funeral home was established by this member of the family in 1918. His wife, Mrs. Jane B. Eells, was one of the first women in the state to secure a license as an embalmer. She passed the state board examinations March 1, 1913, and worked with her husband until her death in 1926.
Myron and Gerald V. Eells were next in succession. The latter is now the active head, working constantly with the policies established by his great grandfather in mind.

Government Grant

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The rural electrification administration allotted $142,000 to the Licking Rural Cooperative, Inc., of Newark today to build about half of a proposed project in Licking and Knox counties.
It also announced execution of loan contracts for: The Muskingum Valley Farm Bureau Electric Cooperative, Cochocton, which may use up to $144,000 for 144 miles of line in Cochocton county; and the North-Central Farm Bureau Electric Cooperative, Tiffin, which may use up to $270,000 for 175 miles of line in Crawford, Huron, Seneca and Wyandot counties.

Seek Back Taxes

IRONTON, April 15.—City and Lawrence county officials moved today to list property on which they believe taxes can be paid and certify it for sale, in an effort to overcome a delinquent tax situation which they said threatened to hamper their government functions. They reported a total tax delinquency in the county of approximately $300-000 and said collections for the current period were only $187,000 against $309,000 for the comparable period last year.

Seeing the World

LISBON, April 15.—Sheriff Harry
L. Gossney and Deputy Otto Buecher today contacted the parents of two 15-year-old boys whom they picked up on the Lincoln highway, just west of here, last night. The boys told the officers they had run away from their homes in Pittsburgh to "see the world."

BOOM? NOT YET, AYRES ASSERTS

Financier Says Depression Is Not Fully Conquered

Idle is that general business is still 15 per cent or more below normal.
"At present our volume of industrial production is about as large as it was just before the depression, but we now have about 7,000,000 more population than we had then —so the per capita output is smaller," Ayres explained in a Cleveland Trust company bulletin.

Commenting on President Roosevelt's recent observation that the volume of durable goods was rising faster than that of non-durable goods, Colonel Ayres said:
"The far more important fact is that the production of both sorts of goods is now sub-normal. We need more of both to restore our national standards of living, and to provide employment for idle workers."

"Our greatest present national need is to become currently self-supporting once more, as a nation as communities, as families and as individuals. Meanwhile we should be working out means to remain self-supporting after we become self-supporting. After that we might well worry about how to avoid over-prosperity."

leaders indicated substantial concurrence.

A house committee approved also a bill by Rep. P. E. Ward (R-Columbus) giving county commissioners authority to compromise with property owners on assessments in arrears between 1929 and 1935. It was described as a means of "salvaging" portions of unpaid assessments on property which probably could not "pay out" and would represent an eventual loss.

Approve Income Tax Plan

The house, which in two previous assemblies passed income tax measures subsequently killed in the senate, approved another yesterday levying 3 per cent on the first $3,000 income, increasing 1 per cent on each additional $1,000 to a maximum of 9 per cent on income over $8,000 annually.

Exemptions were increased from $800 to $1,000 for single persons, $1,600 to $2,000 for married couples, and $200 and $300 for each dependent.

Rep. Lody Huml (D-Cuyahoga), the bill's author, said he was unable to estimate the probable revenue, none of which would be collected until next year, because of the changes in exemptions. Previous estimates ranged from $15,000,000 to $18,000,000 annually.

Half the revenue would be returned to subdivisions in which it was collected. The remainder, after deducting administrative expense, would be divided 60 per cent to the schools fund and 40 per cent to local governments.

Six Republicans joined 75 Democrats in the house to pass the bill, which was opposed by 25 Democrats and 19 Republicans.

Indications on the senate side were the income tax bill's chances for passage there were slight. The house subdivision committee approved for passage a measure giving women equal representation on county central committees of political parties by providing for election of one man and one woman from each precinct, instead of a single representative.

Last Appointee

COLUMBUS, April 15.—Ralph W. Wilkins, Lake county Republican, was the latest appointee today to the state tax commission, joining Frank Miller of Paulding and Walter Mitchell of Youngstown, recently appointed Democrats, and James Dunn, Jr., Cleveland Republican. Gov. Martin L. Davey named Wilkins, former member of the legislature, yesterday to succeed Carlton Dargusch, resigned, for a term expiring in February, 1939.

Defrauder

PORTSMOUTH, April 15.—Walter Montgomery of Lucasville awaited today hearing on April 27 on charges of using the mails to defraud by obtaining merchandise under assumed names. He pleaded innocent before U. S. Commissioner J. P. Johnley and was committed to the Ross county jail at Chillicothe in default of $2,000 bond.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BUYS

16,697 WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATORS FOR 10-YEAR ECONOMY

Public Works Administration awards Westinghouse world's largest single order for refrigerators

When the Government buys refrigerators for its PWA slum clearance and low-rent housing projects, low operating cost is essential. Bids are based on initial price PLUS cost of electricity for ten years. On that basis, Westinghouse won the order for 16,697 refrigerators against other leading makes. Due to the Westinghouse Sealed-in Mechanism, thick Super-sealed Insulation, and other features for increased operating efficiency, Westinghouse could submit a lower over-all bid, even though others quoted lower initial prices for refrigerators... If a Westinghouse Refrigerator will save money for the Government, it will save money for you!

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Major League Teams On Henrich's Trail After Landis Ruling

Former Cleveland-Owned Outfielder Is Ruled Free Agent By Diamond Czar

New York Giants Said To Be Hottest On Trail of Tom Henrich, Who Is At Liberty To Sell Himself To Highest Bidder; Cincinnati Reds Interested

CHICAGO, April 15.—A half dozen major league baseball clubs waved checkbook bait today at Tom Henrich, a husky young outfielder whose current stock in trade was a .346 minor league batting average and promise of future greatness.

Henrich was freed from the Milwaukee club of the American association by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis yesterday, in a ruling that carried an implied rebuke to the Cleveland Indians for attempting to "cover up" the player to prevent his advancement to major league surroundings under the draft rule.

The youngster, a big, 22-year old slugger had not asked the commissioner for free agency, but had petitioned for clarification of his status following his sale last fall by New Orleans of the Southern association, a Cleveland farm, to Milwaukee. Commissioner Landis, however, decided Henrich's contract rights had been violated and declared him at liberty to sell himself to the strongest bidder.

At the head of the list on Henrich's trail were the New York Giants, whose manager, Bill Terry, was on record as saying he would offer $20,000 to sign the outfielder. The Cincinnati Reds were "interested" but did not intend to go haywire on the matter.

Connie Mack had made an offer of an undisclosed sum to Henrich, and Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, declared he was interested. The World Champion Yankees had a scout on Henrich's trail, while the Pittsburgh Pirates showed interest but had made no offer.

Commissioner Landis ordered that Henrich, who has played with Milwaukee only in spring training games, withhold consideration of offers until Friday. He also stipulated that Henrich could not become a member of the Milwaukee club after he has signed with some other team. The Brewers had asked the commissioner for a chance at him should his future affiliation desire to farm him out.

At Milwaukee, Henrich sat down to "think the whole matter over." And right around the corner was John Nee, scout for the New York Yankees. Nee came to town with the Brewers from Birmingham last Saturday to use his persuasive powers on the young outfielder.

Henrich declared he was "satisfied of course, with the judge's decision." He has never competed in a Milwaukee uniform in a regular American association game.

HENRICH HOME AT MASSILLON

Promising Ball Player Visits His Parents As Offers Come

MASSILLON, April 15.—Young Tommy Henrich arrived home today, free to bargain his promising baseball services to any club, and found his telephone buzzing with offers.

Calls from representatives of the St. Louis Browns, Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics awaited upon his arrival from Chicago, where he was declared a free agent yesterday by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner.

Henrich said he had been instructed by Landis not to accept any offers before Friday. He planned to remain here until then.

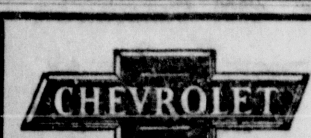

Refusing to disclose details of any of the numerous offers, Henrich said several were "quite high."

Before returning to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henrich, the young outfielder talked with scouts of the New York Yankees and Boston Bees.

Landis ruled that Henrich was "covered up" for the benefit of the Cleveland Indians. Henrich had been transferred from the New Orleans club to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association, both of which have working agreements with the Indians.

C. C. Slapnicka, assistant to President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland club, said it would make no bid for Henrich, while Cincinnati, through General Manager Warren C. Giles, said it was "interested."

WILMINGTON, Del.—Cliff Olsen, 210, Minnesota, defeated Abe Coleman, 205, New York, (two of three falls).

LAYDEN MOLDS 2 BACKFIELDS, ROCKNE STYLE

Strategy to Be Based On "Work Horse" Unit, "Pony Express"

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 15.—Backfield strategy as practiced by Knute Rockne in the days of the immortal "Four Horsemen" is being revived by Coach Elmer Layden as he drills more than 250 Notre Dame football candidates in spring practice.

The youthful mentor of the "Flying Irish"—himself a former fullback with the undefeated national championship Horsemen of 1924—has announced plans to develop a "work horse" unit and a "pony express" backfield.

This throwback to his playing days under Rockne, Layden explains, is the result of realization of the value of speed and deception in football and of the necessity for two complete backfields to carry the ball for the Irish during a rigorous 1937 schedule.

The "work horse" unit will be composed of the heavier, slower candidates for the ball-carrying positions and will start the games, playing through the first quarter or the first half.

The "pony express" combination is to be utilized in the nature of spot players, entering the games when the opposition appears to be slightly tired or when a scoring opportunity looms.

With these tactics, Layden hopes to pilot the Notre Dame eleven through a successful campaign against such opposition as Illinois, Carnegie Tech, Army, Navy, Northwestern, Southern California, and on successive weekends—Pittsburgh and Minnesota.

"One hard day of tackling may eliminate the lightweight backfield," Layden said, "or cause enough damage so that we will have to change our plans and our lineup to get the most strength possible into one backfield."

"But if the experiment works, we'll have a better chance for a successful season than we would have with only one set of backs."

Three of the four members of the speed quartet will weigh less than 160 pounds and will stand less than 5 feet, 9 inches in height. Andy Pupils, varsity quarterback last fall, will go to left halfback to replace Bob Wilke, who is being graduated.

Pupils will handle most of the kicking and passing for the unit. Joe Ruetz, second string signal caller, will move back to guard and Chuck O'Reilly will start at right halfback.

The Mario (Mottis) Tonelli, sophomore fullback from Chicago, who weighs 185 pounds and stands 5 feet, will round out the pony unit.

The "work horse" quarterback will be chosen from a field which includes Emmett Crowe, Willard Hofer, Danny Sullivan and Harold Gottsacker, all of them leaning toward the husky, stocky type.

Left halfback appears to be a race between Jack McCarthy, monogram winner last year; Bill Moran, Max Burnell and Chuck Borowski, none a giant, but all larger than the diminutive Pupils.

Right halfback duties will go to Jake Kovalski, Ernie Arboit, or Joe Gleason, with a possibility that Gleason, a right halfback the last two seasons, will be moved to quarter. Ed Simonich, Ironwood, Mich., giant, appears to have inside track at fullback with Ring Binkowski, a sophomore, his most dangerous rival.

WOOSTER ENDING GRID WORKOUTS

Two Teams to Battle In Final Play of Spring Football Practice

WOOSTER, April 15.—Spring football comes to an end here Saturday when two teams, Jim Munson's Swedes and Bill Knight's Farmers will battle in the stadium. Several hundred high school students, visitors on Wooster's campus for "Open House" will witness the game.

Coach L. C. Boles selected Munson, utility center last season and a letterman, and Knight, reserve guard, as captains and they chose up sides for the coming game.

Boles has made some changes in his squad in his spring drills. The most important is the shift of George Watson, veteran center to the fullback post. In scrimmages he has looked like a find and Boles is looking forward to Saturday's game to see the Louisville, Ky., boy under fire.

Because he has been forced to work with a very inexperienced squad this spring the Wooster mentor has been unable to teach the boys as much of his offense as he usually does.

For this weekend's game the teams will run all of their plays off of the Warner formation. Boles gave out no balanced line plays at all this spring.

Baseball Races Are All Set; Best Bet---Don't!

NEW YORK, April 15.—If you want to believe the professional price-makers, the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals are going to win the pennants in the two major leagues for the season of 1937, opening formally on April 20 and informally (no advance in prices) the day before. But, then, who wants to believe a professional price-maker? What he's actually doing is betting you not only that you're wrong, but that so are his advertised favorites.

It would be less than humane, as a matter of fact, if a money-finger were not raised at this point by some fairly reliable finger-raiser on two counts, namely: (a) Only one favorite among ten named during the last five years has stood up. (b) A price-maker is always willing to strike a bargain. All he wants is the vest. You can have the armhole.

In line with this liberal policy, the world's champion New York Yankees were first held at 4-5. But even the public's sucker-capacity wasn't quite as limitless as that, so the boys stopped playing them up against the brassiere and made it even money. The Cards, meantime, were held out 8-5 in the National League, not a very lavish gesture, either, in view of the fact that any one of five clubs—the Cards, Giants, Pirates, Cubs and Reds—can win without causing even mild astonishment.

DiMaggio, Pearson, Lazzeri and Hadley all coming through for the Yankees last year, while Greenberg and Cochrane were being lost to Detroit? Or the Giants coming up from sixth place in July to the pennant, because Paul Dean had to retire and a half dozen other Cardinals were in and out of the lineup most of the season?

Anyway, here's the five-year record, representing a new high in competitive floppas: 1932—Athletics and Cardinals favored. Yankees and Cubs won the pennants.

1933—Yankees and Cardinals favored. Senators and Giants won.

1934—Indians and Giants favored. Tigers (only dividend payer) and Cubs won.

1935—Tigers and Cardinals favored. Yankees and Giants won. There was a scattering vote for the Indians and Red Sox last year, the latter being played on the bunch that Fox would give them the punch they needed. But the Sox finished sixth and the Indians fifth, meaning that they weren't even in the money.

And, neither for the most part, were you . . . and you . . . you!

Hotter Is Named Hiram Grid Coach

HIRAM, April 15.—Frederick J. Holter, Jr., former assistant coach at Amherst college, Amherst, Mass., has been appointed head football coach at Hiram college, according to an announcement made by Herbert C. Matthews, director of physical education at Hiram.

Starting Sept. 1, Holter will assume the post formerly held by Carleton J. Mefort. Besides being varsity football mentor, he will serve as instructor in physical education and assistant coach in basketball and track.

FELLER SLATED TO HURL AFTER SEASON OPENER

O'Neill Plans to Use Iowa Schoolboy In Tribe's Second Game

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 15.—Bob Feller, the 18-year-old Iowa schoolboy strikeout sensation, was ready today to hurl against the Detroit Tigers Tuesday in the Cleveland Indians' second American league start.

Feller, tagged to go nine in nings against the New York Giants at Thomaston, Ga., yesterday, was relieved at the end of the eighth but not before he had whiffed 12 batters while allowing eight hits in the Tribe's 8 to 6 victory.

The flashy right handed rookie, who broke into the major league pastime late last season, tired in the closing stages but had plenty on the ball. He got two strikes on 20 of the 37 men he faced. Twelve of the 29 went down on three strikes, three of the remaining eight hit safely and the other five either flied or grounded out.

Not until the eighth, when Gus Mancuso hit a home run over the low left field fence after Sam Leslie had doubled, did the National leaguers show signs of solving his fire ball delivery.

Of the three runs they made before that, two were the result of misplays—one a fielding error and one an accidental balk charged against Feller when his spikes caught in the rubber slat.

The youthful pitcher was nominated by Manager Steve O'Neill for the second game of the Detroit series because O'Neill didn't want to put Feller "on the spot" before a large opening day crowd.

BOWLING MARKS ARE UNCHANGED

Noticeable Lull In High Scoring In ABC Tournament At New York

NEW YORK, April 15.—Veteran bowlers from New York, New Jersey and the mid-west, in addition to 28 booster teams from New York City, went to work on the American Bowling Congress alleys today but there seemed small chance that the marks established earlier in the tournament would be materially changed.

There has been a noticeable lull in high scoring since the heavy firing of last weekend slackened. Only changes yesterday were due to a rookie and a veteran. The new comer, Ira Kitzmiller of Camden, N. J., tied Vic Olgive of Ridge-wood, N. J., for seventh place in the singles with a 698 total for three games and also tied for sixth in the all-events with Mike DeBridget of New York with a 1927 aggregate.

Tom Owens, a veteran from Louisville, Ky., took fourth in the all-events with 1932. He scored 600 in the five-man team competition, 633 in doubles, and 679 in singles.

"Leisure to Repent"

by Ursula Parrott

CHAPTER XX

Their mail was forwarded slowly from London. They had been in Moscow nearly three weeks, when one morning as he took their letters from the tray he saw addressed to Denise a letter in a smart, graphic handwriting, saw on the flap of the envelope "Mrs. Eustace Gardner Dayne," and her New York address.

He had the strangest feeling, carrying that letter upstairs, that it would greatly, for good or bad, affect his chance with Denise, and hers with him!

He knocked on her door. It was one of her mornings for "extra sleeping" as she called it, and her voice just half awake, said: "Come in. I'm enjoying a very dull breakfast in bed, Gilbert." She sounded cheerful enough about it, and looked altogether lovely in a bright blue fluffy negligee, with her hair just pleasantly tumbled.

"Hurrah! You have heaps of American mail. Was the food any warmer downstairs in the dining room? I expect not much."

"Letter for you, Denise."

When he handed it to her, and she looked at the superscription, he saw her face change. "I've got things to do, Denise. Business letters. Do you suppose you'll be dressed and feel like sightseeing in an hour?"

"Yes; I'll dress right away, Gilbert."

"No hurry." He went out of the room, and made himself stay away, through a full hour.

She sat up in bed holding that letter in her hands lightly, as if to hold it close would burn her. She watched a small fleet of clouds move across the incredible soft blue of the sky outside her high window. When they were gone, she still stared at that oblong of blue emptiness.

Letters from Felicia had been bright punctuations of her childhood since the years she still had a governess, and Felicia had just gone to boarding-school—of her young girlhood when she was at school, and Felicia was a debutante—of her own debutante years, when Felicia was on her honeymoon and the letters had exotic postmarks. Always the moment of opening a letter from her older sister had been a gay moment. Felicia had the gift for writing amusingly, warmly, making her affection for Denise shine through her light sentences on scenery, society and places to buy things.

In all those years Denise would never have believed that there would come a day when she would open a letter from her sister with dread and a kind of sudden sharp dislike.

Not since the afternoon that cablegram came had she written to Felicia, but had waited until a time should come when she might know what to say. The time had not come yet.

Then she set her pretty mouth. No need to dread anything Felicia might write about. The things she wrote which had used to seem so important, could not be important any more. That was gone with the rest.

The letter read:

"Well, my pet:

"I judge by the complete absence of daily cablegrams, transatlantic telephone inquiries and flowers telegraphed anywhere in the world, as the ads say, with your best wishes attached, that you have no best wishes for me. Nevertheless—

"By the way forgive the discursive style. I'm doing this in bits and pieces over days, in the intervals between sledgehammers going on in my head. I'm pleased to say the sledgehammers are lessening in intensity, and they tell me they're typical aftermath of skull fracture. Why do they, as soon as they've got one locked up in a hospital, tell one that one has typical this and typical that? Gets one's individuality so down."

"As for my looks, they assure me they'll be practically the same. I keep hoping they don't mean just that I'll continue to have two eyes, a nose and mouth and the usual assortment of teeth; but until they unwrap my face from its various layers of tissue, I shan't know."

"Probably you're not interested in that, any more than you used to be interested in my theories about life. However, it serves as well as anything else as an introduction to certain facts you should know. They are all for your very private information. I shan't bother explaining to anyone else. Most people wouldn't believe me; and besides, it's so much trouble to make explanations."

"Well, then, I am the innocent victim of circumstances, as my defending lawyer, if it comes to that (as Eustace's people want), would be sure to remark. The circumstances, I must say, were pretty largely of my own creating, and Keith's. A little ultimate assistance from a truck."

"In other words, Keith's honor and mine are undamaged as a new-fallen snow, for all our reputations are no more. Are my ridiculous similes sufficiently explicit, my lamb? They're sufficiently dreadful, I grant."

There was a break; then:

"Two days later, and much less groggily:

"Denise, it seems important for you to know that Keith and I had no affair. We went to that inn to have three days together, to make up our minds about each other. It's a fact that we clicked beyond belief, since the winter. (Not before, darling, I give you my word.)"

"We were on our way back to tell Eustace that we (Keith and I) were all for going on together, when the truck intervened, and he heard by radio instead."

"None of which changes my profound conviction that you performed the most intelligent act of your life when you married Gilbert.... I'm getting tired, and will have to wait until tomorrow to explain that...."

"Here we are all freshly bandaged like a mummy."

"The major point is that neither Keith nor I are solid citizens at heart. Eustace is one; Gilbert indubitably is. And you are, fundamentally."

"People like us are always letting the solid citizens down. But within limits. As for instance, neither Keith nor I seriously considered 'deceiving Eustace; we registered as we did just because it was convenient."

"How I detest tearing myself apart! I shouldn't do it for anyone but you. To continue the process indirectly: Keith and I just decided that the pleasantest way we knew to spend our remaining years was together. And he never felt about me as he felt about my little sister Denise, though I dislike admitting that, too."

"You will grant I tried with Eustace; but it seemed to get duller and duller."

"As to what happens now, I haven't the least notion. Keith is locked up in his father's house recuperating, and apparently has not recuperated sufficiently yet to get to the telephone."

"Eustace comes to see me three times a day. Our conversations go like this:

"Eustace: 'Are you feeling any better, Felicia?'

"I: 'Yes, Eustace, hadn't we better have a talk?'

"Eustace (with an iron face): 'I refuse to discuss anything with you until you are completely well. As far as I'm concerned, we needn't discuss anything then.'

"He does make me ashamed of myself; but that's no special help. Meanwhile, as soon as his family heard I had recovered consciousness, they sent me a letter so terrible that it was, in its way, amusing. Sort of official dismissal from the fold. They were pretty definite about giving Eustace no more money until he got rid of me. So I suppose he worries about hospital bills. But I can get nothing out of him except: 'Don't concern yourself.' As if, poor darling, he were a strong Victorian husband addressing a semi-imbecile wife!"

"The fact is, I haven't much feeling about him or Keith or myself yet. Still too dazed. Principally, in my more lucid intervals, I've thought about you, and the possible repercussions of this upon your sensitivity. Which ought to prove something or other."

"My hope is, though, that you are by now so deeply and so happily committed to Gilbert, that all our disturbances are no more than small inconsequential sounds in the far distance."

"With love, my dear,

"Your Felicia."

Flippant, defiant, oddly apologetic, that letter was, with a kind of fear between its lines in that style of which the discursiveness was so lightly explained.

"As for my looks—I keep hoping. Until they unwrap my face from its various layers of tissue, I shan't know...." And—

Figures in Alienations Tangle

Charging him with alienating the affections of her 18-year-old daughter, Mrs. Leonora Wallace filed suit for $100,000 against her former husband, Andrew Kerr, millionaire stove manufacturer, in court in San Francisco. The strange marital tangle was made even more strange when the daughter, Louise Kerr, Stanford university student, repudiated her mother in court and asked the court to appoint an attorney her guardian.
